

Headstart Center to administer summer food program

A Summer Food Service Program for Children, sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and administered locally by the Bay-Waveland Headstart Center is to operate for eight weeks commencing Monday, June 10.

Under the supervision of Headstart director Sullivan Bell, the program authorizes the serving of breakfast and lunch to children aged three through eight.

Bell said Headstart would utilize the dining and kitchen facilities of St. Rose de Lima School. Serving times established by Headstart are 8 a.m. for breakfast and noon to 1:30 p.m. for lunch.

Bell yesterday said that while dining room supervision will be provided, children will not be kept after or between meals.

"Transportation to and from St. Rose is the responsibility of the parents or organized group and will not be provided under the terms of the program," Bell said.

Bell said all children within the county are eligible for the program according to the criteria established by

USDA.

Under the USDA guidelines, areas where at least one-third of the children are eligible for free and reduced price school meals under the school lunch and school breakfast programs meet the summer free meal requirements.

"This means the program is open to all qualified children within Hancock County," Bell said.

He stressed that while churches and other organized camp or activity groups could bus or otherwise convey children to St. Rose, no transportation is available under the program.

Bell said the Headstart group would be accepting registrations beginning today at St. Rose.

"We will be open to register children to the program from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m., from now through commencement Monday morning. However, the door will not be closed and late registrations are acceptable," Bell said.

Persons or groups requiring further information may contact Bell at 467-7641 or Mamie Drummond at 467-4289.

'Buried alive' pathologist says

Confessed killer leads return to grave sites

By CAROLE LANGE

Two bodies were unearthed from shallow graves in rural Hancock County near Pearlitting this week as a Connecticut man unfolded his bizarre tale of kidnapping, rape and murder.

Robert Frederick Carr III, 32, of Norwich, Conn., whom Dade County, Florida authorities say is responsible for four kidnap slayings including the two in Hancock County, early this week led Hancock law officers to shallow graves less than a mile apart.

Justices again denied multiple court charges

For the second consecutive month, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors refused to approve payment of the docket of county justices who had listed fees for cases involving related multiple charges.

The board cast their unanimous vote based on a ruling by the state Attorney General that only one fee can be levied when related charges stem from one case, i.e. a judge could charge only $6.00, even though the case may include separate charges of reckless driving, speeding, and failure to yield.

Board President Dolph Kellar was hesitant to vote against approval because he felt that the State ruling dealt only with multiple charges in traffic cases and did not specify multiple charges in narcotic cases. The board then voted to ask for a separate, clearly defined ruling pertaining specifically to Hancock County.

A look at the docket showed that Justice Lloyd Anderson had incorrectly claimed for four cases and Judge Horatio Frierson had reduced the fee claimed on 13 cases. The docket was not changed for Justices Lee Klein, Joe Dobson, and William Frisbie.

In other business, the board declared Hancock County a separate ambulance district and stated their intent to levy one mill in September for the purpose of financing ambulance operations in the county. Mrs. Mona Santiago was then appointed to the district board.

Michael Haas, Hancock County youth referee, announced that the State Legislature has passed House Bill 1088 which authorizes justices to put a $3 additional fee on all criminal cases, with the exception of those heard in youth and municipal courts, effective July 1. Purpose of the charge is to provide funding for the youth court.

On a different subject, Haas announced persons recently named to the advisory board for Gulfside Boy's Home. They include Mrs. Patricia G. Dickinson, chairman; Mrs. Lucretia Fly, vice chairman; Col. Randolph C. Bourgeois, secretary; Sylvan Ladner, treasurer; and Rev. R. N. Sams, Rev. Robert Hargett, and Dr. William Calvert.

At the close of the three hour meeting, the board, with the exception of Kellar and Beat Four Supervisor Sam Pernicaro, agreed to pay their employees on the first and 16th of each month. Kellar declined because he said most of his employees, who are semi-retired, would only experience a five day work period between paydays and Pernicaro wanted to discuss the matter with his employees before implementing the change.

178 ways to earn a living

UNIVERSITY -- A new publication, "Career Preparation at Ole Miss," lists 178 ways to earn a livelihood after studies are completed at the University. The material is being distributed to approximately 500 high school and junior college counselors. Information is available under departmental categories and will be mailed to students contacting the Admissions Office.

The Hancock graves revealed the partially decomposed body of a 16-year-old Florida girl buried last April 7 and the skeletal remains of an 11-year-old boy, also of Florida, buried since Nov. 27, 1972.

Hancock authorities learned of the grave sites Sunday after Carr, arrested in Miami in connection with four juvenile kidnappings, confessed to the four murders.

Authorities said Wednesday that two other graves are being sought in Louisiana and Connecticut.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner, in charge of the law force which retraced with Carr the path to the two grave sites, said the suspect first led them to the grave of the girl on Monday.

The body was found in a clearing on Grapevine Road in an area known as Devil's Swamp.

Ladner said power saws and a backhoe were necessary Tuesday to hack a 100 foot path to the boy's grave located in a wooded area at the junction of State Highways 604 and 807, less than a mile away from the first grave site.

Identity of the two is being withheld until next of kin have been notified.

Describing Carr as a "soft-spoken, very cool, sex fiend," Ladner said he was amazed at his "terrific memory." He said Carr led officials to the four-year-old grave site and only missed the exact spot of the grave by about 40 feet. "The real grave site was in sight of the first digging," he said.

Good boating weather

Chuck Cospelich paddles a friend across flooded State Street in Bay St. Louis last week as rains kept most people inside. This section of State lies between Dunbar and Necaise. Mayor Warren Carver said Monday city engineers Burk & Associates are to review city drainage problems this week.

Lieu of Taxes Bill wouldn't benefit Hancock County, Lott admits

Mississippi will receive $400,050 in federal land payments if a bill reported out of the House Rules Committee last week becomes law.

However, Representative Trent Lott (R-Miss) said Hancock County does not stand to receive any of the funds due to exclusion of NASA-NSTL lands as a tax loss area. Hancock County does not have any other federal lands. Lott said the bill also excludes federal lands used as military installations and VA facilities. Examples of federal lands which would qualify, Lott said, are reservoir lands, national park lands and national forest lands.

Lott, a member of the Rules panel, said the Payments in Lieu of Taxes Act will provide annual payments to state or local governments based on the amount of certain public lands within its boundaries. The measure is slated for final House action in the near future.

"Those states and local governments whose boundaries contain huge amounts of federal land are essentially deprived of taxes under normal conditions," Lott explained. "This measure will simply try to relieve some of that burden."

The bill establishes a formula for payments based on the population and the number of acres of land eligible for funds.

Victim's clothing

Hancock Sheriff Sylvan Ladner removes part of a tee-shirt left in the Devil's Swamp grave of a 16-year-old Florida girl. A man who confessed to four kidnap slayings led authorities this week to the girl's grave and that of an 11-year-old boy. Both bodies were buried in rural areas of the county.

Brother Paul Montero named SSC principal

BRO. PAUL MONTERO, S.C.

University in Thibodaux, La., and Dominican College of New Orleans.

Brother Paul taught at St. Aloysius High School in New Orleans from 1961-1969, where he also served as director of guidance and assistant principal. He was principal of Edward Douglas White Catholic High School in Thibodaux from 1969 until January of 1976, when he left to participate in the spiritual re-foundation program at Sante Fe, N.M.

Brother Paul holds membership in the National Association of Secondary School Principals, the Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, Kappa Delta Pi, and Phi Delta Kappa. He is President Emeritus of the New Orleans Archdiocesan Guidance Council.

He was organizing chairman of the Louisiana Personnel and Guidance Association in 1967; principal of two study-travel tours of Southern Europe in 1973 and 1975; a 1971 participant in a study mission to the Soviet Union; and the past president of Bridge-the Gap, Inc., a drug abuse prevention program for LaFourche Parish in Louisiana.

Animal Welfare Act signed

A six year effort to guarantee the humane treatment of animals in transit has finally succeeded. The Animal Welfare Act Amendments of 1976 were passed and signed into law by the United States Congress and President Gerald Ford. These amendments enable uniform standards to be established for the humane treatment of the hundreds of thousands of animals which are shipped around the United States every year.

In addition, the new legislation strikes out against the growing "sport" of dog-fighting as well as cock-fighting. It makes it illegal with a maximum fine of $5,000 and/or one year in prison to sponsor an animal fight or to deliver by air, land or water an animal in interstate commerce for fighting purposes. Up to now, weak state laws or poor enforcement of them have enabled dog and cockfighting to grow into a popular underground "sport" with its own related publications and events staged around the country.

Dogs are trained to kill using animal-such as kittens and chickens—then set against each other in a contest in which they chew each other to a mangled and-till or death. Heavy betting keeps the "sport" alive.

The United States Department of Agriculture has the responsibility to enforce these provisions and violations should be reported to them. Your local humane society or the Mississippi Federation of Humane Societies, 121 Alma Drive, Jackson, MS 39209 can help you report any violations.

Identity still sought

Failure to locate the teeth of a badly charred female corpse found in the hallway of a burning house last week has hampered positive identification of the body, Hancock Sheriff Sylvan Ladner said Wednesday.

Owner of the house, Mrs. Sally Marie Harwell, 34, has been missing since the fire. She managed the Bay Marina on Washington Rd. where the fire occurred.

Ladner said over the weekend that he felt the fire was "arson to cover up a murder." He said a neighbor of Mrs. Harwell has been questioned as a material witness, however no charges have been filed in connection with the incident.

Despite its great size and its being in the middle of a busy street, the antenna can be moved at speeds of 30 miles per hour. A full-grown antenna weighs around 800 pounds and stands as tall as a full grown child's head.

Robert B. Hegwood, AST data systems engineer and project manager, said the idea was conceived 18 months ago when he and two colleagues met in Jackson to discuss a more effective means of telephone communication between hospitals.

Brainstorming sessions between NASA and the Southern Regional Medical Consortium followed, and resulted in the development of the spiral-shaped antenna which was successfully tested last month when an ambulance equipped with the device in south Mississippi was able to communicate with receiving stations as far away

Antenna-equipped ambulance

This ambulance, equipped with a special antenna (center on roof) allows technicians to transmit medical data via satellite to physicians at a hospital receiving station. Developed at NASA-NSTL, the new antenna will be tested for a year in the south Mississippi area.

Satellites aid medical communication

By CAROLE LANGE. An antenna that will permit continuous communication between a moving ambulance and a hospital via satellite has been developed by technicians at NASA-NSTL.

Robert B. Hegwood, AST data systems engineer and project manager, said the idea was conceived 18 months ago when he and two colleagues met in Jackson to discuss a more effective means of telephone communication between hospitals.

Brainstorming sessions between NASA and the Southern Regional Medical Consortium followed, and resulted in the development of the spiral-shaped antenna which was successfully tested last month when an ambulance equipped with the device in south Mississippi was able to communicate with receiving stations as far away as New Mexico. Also, a recent simulated EKG (electrocardiogram) transmission was successfully completed between a moving ambulance and the NASA facility.

Hegwood said the antenna is an "innovation," because present ground transmission permits the sending of EKG's and other medical data at a distance of only 10-15 miles.

He said it could prove to be an important breakthrough in emergency medical care, because ultimately the system could lead to the development of a special medical satellite which would relay emergency medical data from ambulances, remote hospitals, ships, offshore oil platforms, and other remote locations to major medical centers.

Hegwood explained that the system works when personnel in the antenna-equipped ambulance transmit information from a telecare system which is picked up by a satellite at the earth's equator then transmitted to a receiving station.

"A physician at the receiving station in a hospital will be able to see the information on his telecare system and verbally instruct the ambulance EMT as to the proper emergency steps to take for that particular patient," Hegwood said.

The telecare system, according to Dr. Cecil Burge, University of Southern Mississippi professor and Consortium project director, is "one black box that allows the paramedics to transmit EKG's and voice communication to the central hospital within perhaps a 20-mile radius. The box also contains equipment for defibrillation and for administering oxygen."

Hegwood said it would cost approximately $8,000 to equip ambulances with the innovative system. Broken down, he said the telecare system costs approximately $6,000; the antenna, $500; and the transmitter, $1,500.

He said the $8,000 figure represents a savings because a ground station for satellite communication could cost as much as $2 million to build. Consortium officials are in the process of finding funding for the demonstration program which is expected to continue for a year.

Hegwood said NASA funding is expected to be approved in October or November of this year. At that time, he said it is hoped that funds will be available for the medical end of the demonstration and that three to four ambulances can be equipped to demonstrate the new system's effectiveness.

The Southern Regional Medical Consortium includes the University of Southern Mississippi, the Southeast Air Ambulance District, Forrest General Hospital, Hattiesburg, and the Governor's Office of Science and Technology.

Wildlife Federation offers eight youth camping programs

The National Wildlife Federation, a nonprofit conservation education organization, is offering eight outdoor education opportunities for youngsters ages eight to 16 in the scenic Blue Ridge Mountains of North Carolina.

The Wildlife Camp program, now in its sixth year, offers a blend of educational and camping activities on 1,300 acres near Hendersonville, N.C. Open to children eight to 12 years old, the camp provides scenic hiking trails in forests, freshwater streams, and a spring-fed lake as an outdoor laboratory for environmental learning. The ratio of counselors to campers is one to five, assuring close attention to the needs of each camper.

The four sessions of Wildlife Camp scheduled for 1976 are:

- Session I - June 13-24, ages 8-12
- Session II - July 4-15, ages 8-12
- Session III - July 18-29, ages 10-12
- Session IV - Aug. 1-12, ages 10-12

Summer reading aid tendered by teens

Ten members of the Bay-Waveland teenage action group, Project Do, are giving up part of their summer vacation to aid the Friends of the Library with their reading program.

Directed to first and second graders having problems with their reading, the Project Do participation permits a one to one relationship with the students.

Without undertaking any remedial work, the teenagers simply act in the capacity of "listener" and friend.

Involved from Project Do are: Susan Hensley, Linne Cabell, Mary Kergosien, Gigi Staehle, Mary McCurdy, Cheryl Carlson, Susan Robinson, Paul Robinson, Steven Johns, and Anna di Benedetto.

Bay St. Louis Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie said this week he had accepted an invitation to be a member of the 1976 Planning Group for the State Fire Academy.

Gavagnie will attend the group's meeting Tuesday, June 29 at the State Fire Academy in Rankin County.

The Planning Group will formulate plans and suggestions for the State Fire School scheduled for Sept. 13-16 and for future courses to be conducted at the Academy.

Corps reschedules Gulfport channel hearing to June 22

A public hearing concerning navigational channel deepening and improvement for Gulfport is set for 7 p.m. Tuesday, June 22, in the Mississippi Power Company Building, Gulfport.

Persons or groups wishing to make comment or submit questions concerning the project are asked to attend this session, according to Lawrence R. Green, chief of planning division, Mobile District, US Corps of Engineers.

A Revised Draft Environmental Statement has been prepared in conjunction with the Draft Feasibility Report. Both are available from the Corps should study be required prior to the public meeting.

The environmental report is available on request from the Corps office in Mobile. The Draft Feasibility Report is open for inspection at Room 3029, New Federal Building, 109 St. Joseph St., Mobile, Ala., or may be purchased at a cost of $4 from the Navigation and Coastal Branch, Mobile District, Corps of Engineers, P.O. ## Beefsteak tomatoes top

Sixteen beefsteak tomato plants, bought earlier in the year at four for one dollar, have yielded an average of 10 pounds of product piece with clusters still on the vine.

Planted in late April, the vines have all produced individual tomatoes in excess of one pound apiece which have to be picked while green and ripened under glass. This prevents any breaking of the stalks, according to Albert Biehl of 209 Ballentine in the Bay, the plant's owner. Biehl said in view of today's tomato prices, his buy looks much better now than it did when he planted the vines.

Real estate licensing now governed by course credit

A series of real estate schools meeting the requirements for issuance of real estate license under legislation recently signed into law, has been scheduled for a number of locations in Mississippi.

A series of Course I, II and III of the Realtors Institute courses has been scheduled in Tupelo, Jackson, Columbus, Hattiesburg, and Biloxi," said Realtor Cecil M. Cost, Chairman, Education Committee of the Mississippi Association of Realtors, sponsor of the courses.

"Under the new amendment to the real estate license law, one must obtain a certain number of college credit hours in real estate, or must complete certain phases of the Realtors Institute in order to apply for a real estate salesman's or broker's license," Cost said.

Briefly stated, the new educational requirements will be as follows: Salesman's license: One three-semester hour college credit course in real estate or Course I (30 classroom hours) of the Realtors Institute as approved by the National Association of Realtors.

Broker's license, three-semester college credit hours in real estate or all three of the Realtors Institute Courses (90 classroom hours); or if the applicant has one year's experience as a real estate salesman, he may apply for the broker's license with two three-semester college credit hours or the first two courses (60 classroom hours) of the Realtors Institute.

"The Realtors Institute Courses are open to the public," according to Cost. "However, they must be taken in sequence. That is, one may not take Course II until he has successfully completed Course I, and he may not take Course III until he has successfully completed Course II."

COURSE I
Biloxi: Howard Johnson - June 23-25, 28-29; Deadline for registration-June 24.

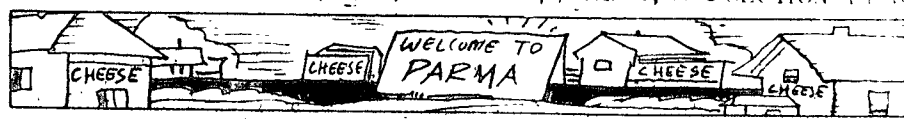

COURSE II
Jackson: Medical Center Holiday Inn - July 7-9, 12-13; Deadline for registration-June 25.

Hattiesburg: Holiday Inn North - July 22-23, 28-30; Deadline for registration-July 12.

Biloxi: Howard Johnson - August 12-13, 16-18; Deadline for registration-August 2.

COURSE III
Jackson: Coliseum Ramada Inn - September 20-24. Deadline for registration-September 1.

Tuition for each course is $125. Registrants should mail check payable to Mississippi Realtors Institute to P.O. Box 2454, Jackson, Mississippi 39205, indicating course number and place. Upon receipt of checks, further details will be forwarded by return mail.

Baptismal to climax two-week Bible School

A baptismal service at 11 a.m. Sunday, will climax two weeks of Bible School at Mount Chapel Baptist Church in Waveland.

Rev. Ozie Parker, pastor, said Tuesday that 160 children have participated in the school, made possible through the dedication of his volunteer teachers.

"Apart from taking these children through sections of the Bible in depth, we have been able to occupy their attention in something constructive," the pastor said.

He said the baptism, at the church, would be attended by both the children and their parents.

"This will be a very moving religious experience," he said, adding that the service will be open to the public.

Divine Word missionaries mark 25th anniversaries

Rev. Leonard Olivier, Lake Charles, La. and Rev. John Labauve, Indianapolis, Ind., will celebrate their 25th anniversaries as priests with Masses of Thanksgiving June 13 and June 27 respectively. The Masses will take place in each of their home towns.

After mission work in Louisiana, Mississippi, Pennsylvania, Texas, and Indiana, Father Labauve was appointed to his present position as pastor of St. Rita's parish in Indianapolis.

Father Olivier began training for the missionary priesthood at St. Augustine Seminary High School in Bay St. Louis in 1939. He studied at Divine Word Seminary, Techny, Ill., and received a B.A. from St. Augustine's and an M.A. in education from Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C.

He was ordained in St. Louis, Mo. in 1951. He served on the faculty and was dean at St. Augustine's and was also the rector of Divine Word Seminary. In April, 1974, he was appointed superintendent of the educational institutions of Divine Word Missionaries in the United States and Canada.

Father Labauve was born in Abbeville, La. in 1923. He attended Our Lady of Lourdes School and Divine Word Prep Seminary in Bay St. Louis in 1938. He later went to Divine Word Seminary in Techny and returned to Bay St. Louis for two years of philosophy and four years of theology. He was ordained in Rome in 1951.

Sea chanties a tradition lives

Sailors in our Revolutionary War naval forces led rather difficult lives compared to their counterparts of today. Spartan living conditions and hard work were an accepted part of the daily routine.

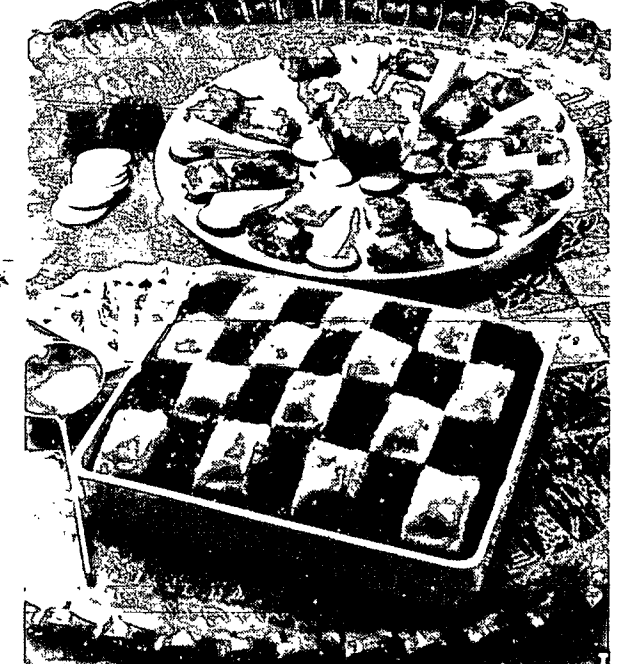

One of the most arduous tasks on a sailing ship was supplying manpower for the jobs requiring line hauling. Before the days of power winches and capstans, sails were raised, anchors weighed and mooring lines hauled...all by manpower.

Unlikely as it seems, this back-breaking work was accompanied by singing—not for entertainment, but to help the men synchronize their pulls. These simple, rhythmic songs were known as "sea chanties" and had been used by sailors for hundreds of years.

The origin of the term "chantey" is disputed. Some historians believe the word is a derivation of the French word "chanter" - to sing. Another possibility derives from a custom of natives of the West Indies. When these people moved from one place to another, they would drag their houses (shanties) with them. One of the group would sit on top of the house and sing a simple song to put rhythm to the work. English sailors watching the procedure thereafter associated the shanties with the songs and gave the name "sea chanties" to songs used aboard their ships.

Regardless of origin, chanties were important aids to a "sail-sailor" and were refined to the extent that there were three distinct classes, each tailored to a specific type of work.

Ravioli Wins Hands Down

There's a great resurgence of at-home games...more people play chess, checkers, cards, dominos, scrabble, even UNO. Well, than five years ago. Here's a chance to have an inexpensive fun evening at home. For game-time refreshments, why not serve that all-time eating favorite, ravioli? We've had some fun concocting two different recipes from a 10 ounce economy size can of Mini Ravioli; half the can was used in a casserole, the other half was fried for crunchy, munchy finger food. Both will delight your guests after a fast poker game.

CHECKERBOARD RAVIOLI CASSEROLE

- 1/2 pound ground beef
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons butter or margarine
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
- 1/2 can (40 oz.) Chef Boy-a-dee Mini Ravioli
- 1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach
- 1 cup shredded cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup bread crumbs
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/4 teaspoon salt

Brown ground beef in butter, add garlic powder. Combine ravioli and beef mixture. Arrange one-half of mixture in bottom of 8" by 8" by 2-1/2" square baking dish or a 2-quart round casserole. Cook frozen spinach according to package directions; drain well. Combine spinach, cheese, bread crumbs, egg and salt. Spread spinach mixture on top of ravioli mixture. Arrange remaining ravioli mixture on top placing ravioli like squares on checkerboard. Bake at 350°F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Serves 4.

MINI FRIES

- 1/2 can (40 oz.) Chef Boy-a-dee Mini Ravioli
- 1/4 teaspoon garlic salt
- 3/4 cup bread crumbs
- 1 cup oil
- 1/2 teaspoon Tabasco sauce
- 1 tablespoon water

Remove ravioli from can; save remaining sauce. Combine garlic salt and bread crumbs. Bread ravioli and cover with wax paper, press gently and allow to stand in refrigerator for 1/2 hour. Fry in oil until golden. Remove to warm platter. Remove one-half cup of remaining sauce; combine with Tabasco sauce and water for dip. Serve with fried ravioli. Serves 4 to 6.

Alec Guinness stars in 1949 comedy film

"A Run for Your Money," a 1949 Alec Guinness comedy classic, will be aired on ETV's "Film Classics International" at 8 p.m., Saturday, June 12. The film can be seen on the Mississippi Educational Television Network, channel 19, Biloxi.

A typical Guinness chain reaction of comedy situation is triggered when two Welsh coal miners win 200 pounds and tickets to a football match in a British newspaper contest.

When the winners arrive in London to claim their prize, the newspaper's gardening editor (Guinness) is assigned to chaperone the pair throughout their stay. Appearing with Guinness are Joyce Grenfell and Hugh Griffith.

Liberty Bell replica to peal at Baptist Convention

Mississippi's replica of the Liberty Bell, winding up 50,000 miles of travel throughout some 13 states, will close out its year of service to Southern Baptists as it peals forth its tones at the conclusion of the Southern Baptist Convention June 15-17 in Norfolk, Va.

The bell will then be returned to Mississippi to take its place on the capitol grounds in Jackson.

The final ringing of the bell at a Southern Baptist Convention session will be handled by the Rev. Dr. W.O. Vaught, pastor of Immanuel Baptist Church, Little Rock, Ark., and the Rev. Dr. John Lee Taylor, pastor of First Baptist Church, Grenada, Miss. These two men were instrumental in obtaining the bell for Southern Baptist use beginning a year ago.

Dr. Taylor will be presented a plaque to be presented to the State of Mississippi expressing the appreciation of Southern Baptist for the use of the bell.

A special ceremony will be conducted July 6 at 3 p.m. at the state capitol as the bell is brought back to rest in its normal place on the grounds. Dr. Taylor will preside at this ceremony, and Dr. Vaught will be the speaker. Also expected to be present are Heber Ladner, secretary of state, and Evelyn Gandy, lieutenant governor.

The bell has made its appointed rounds on the back of a truck furnished by the Ford Motor Company for the purpose. The driver all the way has been Gene McRoberts, a layman from Little Rock. The bell is the exact size of the original Liberty Bell in Philadelphia and is said to have the same tone as the original bell before it cracked.

Dairy industry's importance to state still on increase

JUNE IS DAIRY MONTH

The dairy industry makes an important contribution to the agricultural economy in our state. Last year, 1,537 dairy farmers produced 876 million pounds of milk. The total value of this production amounted to about $84 million. This production was accomplished through an average of 122,000 head of dairy cattle producing an average of 7,180 pounds of milk per cow.

The dairy industry has long been recognized as a vital segment of the economy of Mississippi. Through the years, dairy marketing in Mississippi has become increasingly important. The marketing of milk has evolved from a simple producer-consumer relationship into a highly complex system.

Producing and maintaining an adequate supply of milk is essential to the people in Mississippi. Milk has often been called nature's most perfect food and has long been considered necessary in the human diet.

Milk must be handled with the utmost care from start to finish and must meet the specifications of a host of sanitary regulations for the protection of all concerned. Dairy farmers and milk processing plants in Mississippi have done outstanding work to give the consumer an adequate supply of a quality product.

The number of dairy farmers and milk processing plants has declined in the past few years. Alternative incentives have been greater for many in the dairy industry. However, those remaining have increased in size.

As consumers, we spend about 2.2 percent of our income on dairy products.

Actually, dairy products account for only 12.8 percent of all income spent on food. Today the average worker needs only to work 10.7 minutes to earn enough money to purchase one-half gallon of milk. Ten years ago, he had to work 11.3 minutes. So, dairy products offer a decline in "real terms" of purchases.

For 1976, the total number of dairy herds is expected to decline, with the ones remaining becoming larger and more efficient. Milk production per cow is expected to remain about the same as last year.

It is proper that we salute the dairy farmer during this month. He is a farmer that must milk his cows at least twice a day each day of the year — rain, shine, sleet, or snow; the cows must be milked to provide us with a clean and adequate supply of milk.

SOYBEANS

After June 1 it is best to plant medium to late maturing varieties of soybeans to take advantage of maximum yield potential. After June 20 producers should switch to the latest maturing varieties to avoid too great a yield reduction caused by late planting.

Typical examples of the medium maturing group are Lee 68 and Tracy. Bragg is an example of the latest

maturing varieties

Early weed control in soybeans is extremely important. Most beans will require a postemergence weed control herbicide by the time they are four weeks old.

For cocklebur the first postemergence sprays should probably be either dinoseb or Basagran. Weeds as sicklepod or pigweed are best controlled early with Tenoran or Norex plus nonphytotoxic oil.

Care celebrates 30th anniversary

NEW YORK—May marked the 30th anniversary of the delivery of the first CARE package on May 11, 1946, at Le Havre, France to the people of war-torn Europe.

The last CARE packages were purchased in 1967 and, all told, well over 100 million of them were delivered, ranging from food and textiles to school supplies and tools, before package distribution was discontinued.

By then CARE people-to-people aid had long since been diversified to include, as it does today, medical and varied development assistance—schools, nutrition and health centers, farm-to-market roads, water systems, irrigation and other agricultural projects—to needy millions in developing nations around the world.

"In these 30 years," the agency's Executive Director Frank L. Goffio reported, "CARE has provided more than $1.9 billion worth of aid, including: food, emergency relief, food-growing, self-help development, health and medical supplies, services and training to families in 77 nations. Currently, CARE has programs in 38 countries in Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Middle East."

When feeding 3 to 6-year olds, serve child-size portions on child-size dishes. Offer new foods in small amounts.

Attacking the Private Sector

Up in Washington, where our free way of life is expected to be protected, massive federal programs spring eternal.

Most of those programs are well intentioned. But along with those programs, massive federal deficits also spring eternal.

Frequently aiming at lofty goals found somewhere in the area of Utopia, our nation's officials seek to assuage all the ills which plague us individually and collectively.

Such is the case with the Humphrey-Hawkins Bill. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) and Rep. Augustus Hawkins (D-Cal.) have authored a bill which would order the federal government to give anyone a job who wants one. The goal is a 3 percent unemployment rate. The government would be forced to supply a job, even if there is an available job in the private sector.

While their idea of full employment is commendable, the program which they envision could cost the nation's taxpayers an additional $40 billion a year. The nation would quickly run up skyrocketing deficits - as if current ones are not bad enough - and the working people would find themselves in the grips of double digit inflation, a major culprit in the recent recession. Such action would have a devastating effect on our free enterprise system.

It is not the government's place to supply people with jobs. Any government which is big enough to give a person everything he wants is big enough to take it all away.

The main employer in the United States is - and always has been - the private sector, business.

Right now almost 87 million Americans are employed, the greatest number in our history. In the last year alone, private business created 2.5 million new jobs without ONE DIME of federal subsidy.

Sen. Humphrey and Rep. Hawkins have failed to take into account the amazing resiliency of our free market system. It is the same system which has given us the highest standard of living of any nation in the history of the world.

They should not kill the goose which lays the golden egg.

IMPROVING THE RULES

H.R. 12048, the Administrative Rulemaking Reform Act of 1976, would give Congress the opportunity to have some control over the giant government bureaucracy.

Frankly, I consider it a responsibility the Congress should have had long ago.

Basically, the purpose of the proposed legislation - which I co-sponsored in the House - is to provide for congressional review of regulations issued by federal departments and agencies. Congress would have the power to disapprove proposed regulations before they actually are implemented.

I don't think that's asking too much. After all, if we're the ones who write the laws, we should at least see it that OSHA, EPA, and other agencies and departments comply with legislative intent.

As it now stands, Congress writes the laws and then watches helplessly as bureaucrats issue rules and regulations that frequently go beyond legislative intent. When that happens, the only recourse for Congress is to re-write the law, a time-consuming process that must be approved by the House, the Senate, and finally the President.

The Administrative Rulemaking Reform Act would cut through that cumbersome exercise by allowing either House to adopt a concurrent resolution disapproving a proposed rule or regulation within 60 calendar days after its promulgation and prior to its going into effect. Then, unless the second House disagrees within 30 days, the regulation will stand disapproved and will not go into effect.

Such a change would at least give the public the chance to challenge a regulation without going through an expensive legal procedure.

"Should a citizen decide to balk or challenge the bureaucracy, he is in for expense, delay, frustration, and probably sanction," a colleague told me during a recent hearing in the Rules Committee, where the bill is currently being studied. "Not surprisingly, the public is angry and frustrated, too often feeling that they have no choice but to obey a burdensome, costly, and perhaps ridiculous regulation promulgated by bureaucrats they do not know, have not elected, and cannot remove."

"It is our duty to see that the public is given an input, through their elected representatives, in the promulgation of these rules," he continued. "This is basic to restoring citizen confidence in the government. An unresponsive government is not a vehicle which carries the faith and confidence of the public."

There are those who argue that giving such a responsibility to the Congress is like jumping from the frying pan into the fire. Congress, they insist, would make things worse.

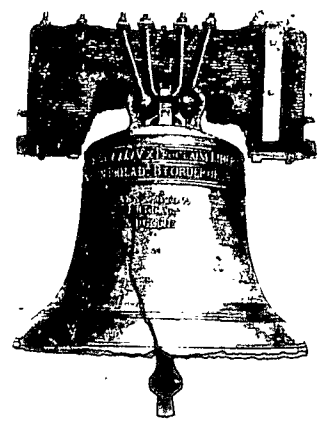

Lobbyists would have a second chance to weaken a federal regulation after they failed to weaken the law when it was originally passed.

Additional expense would be involved if congressional staffs were increased to deal with the load involved in reviewing each regulation.

Independent agencies would lose their independence.

Those are legitimate concerns, but they seem pale in comparison to the alternatives. We've seen that the present system is ineffective and we know that increased oversight from existing congressional committees would hardly be the answer.

In my view, the Administrative Rulemaking Reform Act would be a substantial improvement over the present system. I will continue to examine it closely in future Rules Committee hearings as it winds its way through the legislative process.

Bicentennial News

Treasured memories are brought to mind when the not-so-young have cause to see one of the older models of Singer Sewing Machine.

These old machines were standard equipment in most early American homes. During daylight hours and frequently far into the night their foot pedals were kept in slow RHYTHMIC motion while the wife and older daughters stitched virtually every garment to be worn by the family. Small children were also involved with the Singer machine. Frequently the younger members of the family sat behind the machine and supplied the "hand power that moved the pedals" thus relieving the operator's calf-muscle strain.

With the advent of electric sewing machines, these old treadle models were stashed away in the attic, carted off to the barn, or they ended up on the junk heap. Occasionally a machine was dismounted and the wrought iron base became the sturdy base for a patio table, fern stand, or other utility unit.

It's pleasant to have these old Singer Sewing Machine bases around the home. Here's one of the reasons why: Isaac Singer did a great job of making his name a household word. Actually, he was more of a versatile machinist than an inventor. A crude sewing machine was brought on his shop for repairs in 1851 and his keen mind envisioned all manner of improvements. Singer organized a patent pool and his machine included the best features from seven leading companies.

The first man to spend a million dollars a year on advertising, Singer acquired $13 million and gave housewives an inexpensive, easily operated and maintained machine. Practically indestructible, I have seen some of the early machines still in use in Central American homes! Ornate ironwork sporting an oval centered with an ear of corn was the patented trade mark of Singer Sewing Machines. Patents were 1880 and later.

If you fall heir to one of these older machines treasure it. Treasure it while it while you touch-and-sew on your light weight and lovely model that sews, embroiders, makes button holes and makes it possible for you to dress best for less, be creative and zig-zag your way through interior decorating and gift-making.

Freshen up and preserve your old iron based machine with rust-preventative paint. You'll be glad you did and so will your family!

We advance suggestions concerning Social Security

Representative Trent Lott of this district, in a Washington Report column carried by this paper on March 18, outlined several measures he has brought before Congress concerning Social Security.

He prefaced his remarks on the subject by stating, "South Mississippians are worried about social security. They're concerned that the system they've been supporting for years is going broke. They are suspicious the money they've paid into the system has been wasted."

Of the measures he introduced, one deals with the elimination of the five-month waiting period for disability benefits, as well as the reconsideration stage in benefit determinations. The other seeks to raise the ceiling on earnings allowed a beneficiary.

This week in our mail we received a letter from the Gulfport office of social security advising us of a cost-of-living increase in monthly social security benefits amounting to some 6.4 percent. The examples provided were a hike in payments to the average retired worker from $210 to $224 per month, and from $228 to $242 per month for the average disabled worker. Finally, the example was provided that the average social security survivor payments to widowed mothers or fathers with two children in their care will go from $479 to $510 per month.

The social security system is part of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, administered entirely by people who seemingly lack single subscription to the program.

While allegedly good enough for the rank and file of taxpayers, the federal civil service, presumably through the auspices of more civil servants, operates its own retirement program, completely divorced from that only it is seemingly capable of managing for the taxpayers.

KERSHNER'S COMMENTARY

By Dr. Howard E. Kershner

U.N.'s Objective

The United Nations publishes a paper called AC-100. The January-February number of this year contains an article entitled, "Automatic Transfers - Symbol of Search for Development Means." The theme of the piece is set forth in the following sentence:

"The mid-range idea of the proposed new order is to alter the system in such a way that resources flow automatically from rich to poor."

Here you have it, dear readers. The main purpose of the United Nations is the "new order" which will insure that resources flow automatically from rich to poor.

After a year in 1948 of full time service in the United Nations without pay, I discovered that one of the objectives of that organization was the right to tax the nationals of member states. This would mean that United States citizens would be taxed down to the level of Asia or Africa. The communist and socialist nations at U.N. are very numerous and can out-vote the free nations three or four to one. Give them a little time and they'll perfect their system for an automatic flow of resources from what they consider the rich nations to the poor nations.

The free nations have hardly a prayer that they can for long resist the overwhelming majority of so-called "developing nations" in their determination to seize an increasing portion of the resources of the free nations. ANSWER: Withdraw from U.N.

DO YOU KNOW THAT...

The average federal employee in Washington earns about $7,000 more per year than his counterpart in private industry.

THAT...

The average employee of the federal government gets 50% more time off with pay than the person working with private business.

THAT...

Government employees work shorter hours, with greater job security, than workers in the private sector.

Offers reward

To the editor:
My home on Montebella Road, Pass Christian, Ms. was heavily vandalized and burglarized sometime during the week before Memorial Day May 24 - 28. Items taken were: office equipment (typewriters, Answerphone equipment, Notary Public scroll) Objet d'art (jazz paintings and carvings, scrolls, paintings, ivory carvings) garden tools, carpenter items.

Deputy Sheriff Thomas B. Welch, of the Harrison County Sheriff's Office investigated the break-in and vandalism and the complaint No. is: 29679.

I am offering a $250 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the vandals and burglars.

Thrifty penalized?

Why is it that the small consumer, those who use less gas, who try to conserve their use of a limited commodity are penalized by having to pay higher rates? And the gas hog, the large user, the waster is rewarded by lower rates - This is a time when we are bombarded with pleas to use and save as much energy as we can?

State parks propose in-state vacations

JACKSON--Dr. Jim Meredith, executive director, Mississippi Park Commission, highly recommends a "total" family vacation, and suggests that vacation planners try a cabin, motel, or campground in Mississippi.

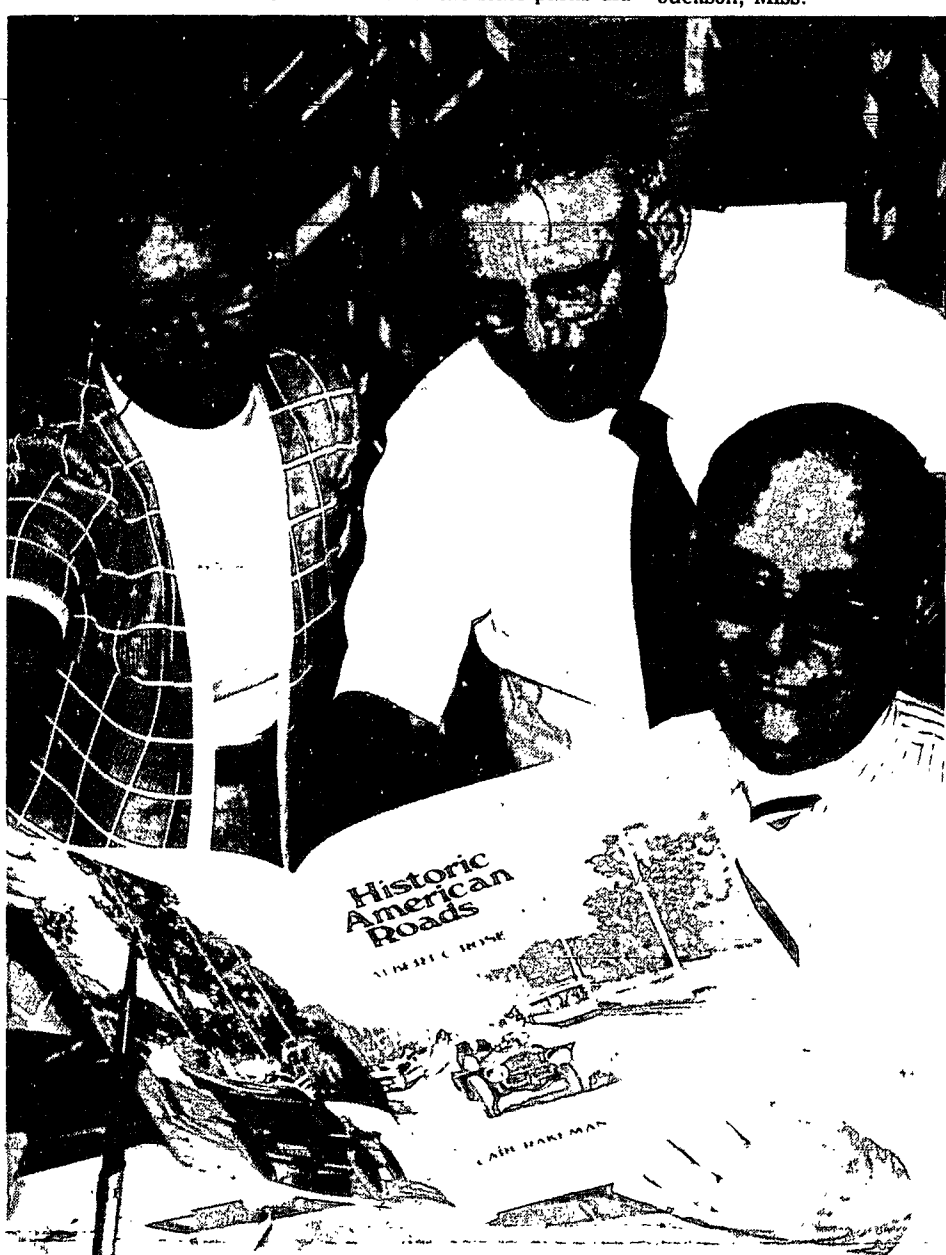

Dr. Meredith states, "The state park system brings recreational and leisure opportunities to every corner of the Magnolia State. Whether you're getting away from it all or getting away to it all, Mississippi's state parks have what you're looking for at a nearby state park: camping, relaxing in a cabin, eating a tasty picnic lunch, swimming with friends, playing tennis, walking a wooded nature trail, rowing a boat, skiing, fishing, pedaling a bicycle, exploring a nature exhibit in an interpretive center, participating in art-craft programs, or testing your skill at carpet golf - whatever you call 'fun' can be found in a state park."

Dr. Meredith reminds families that it is not too late to make cabin reservations. He said that a recent check with all state parks disclosed that with existing vacancies and emergency cancellations several of the state parks did have available cabins for a weeks' vacation. All cabins are completely equipped for light housekeeping. Except for bath linens, all comforts are there for you. Prospective vacationers only need to bring the family, towels and soap, the food you'll eat, clothes, and the park you visit will have all the rest.

Families wishing to make cabin reservations should write or call the individual park they would like to visit. Or, for more detailed information, contact the Mississippi Park Commission, 717 Robert E. Lee Building, Jackson, Miss.

ELECTRICITY PUMP

Electricity is a measurable item — like gasoline you buy for your automobile. Just as the gasoline pump at your neighborhood station ticks off the number of gallons of gas you purchase, the electric meter accurately measures the number of kilowatt-hours you use.

Everytime you switch on an appliance or the thermostat turns it on, our power plants burn more fuel and produce additional electricity which flows to that appliance and makes it operate. The exact number of kilowatt-hours you use is measured by your electric meter, and your next bill includes the cost of that electricity.

In the summer months, our typical residential customer buys twice as many kilowatt-hours of electricity as in April, primarily because of air conditioning. And this increased use of electricity results in a higher electric service bill at the end of the month.

When you compare this month's bill with last month's, also compare the number of kilowatt-hours used. We all want to conserve and keep electric bills from being any larger than necessary, but only you can control the amount of electricity you use.

So, please, use electricity wisely!

You'll find many ideas about the wise use of electricity in our 20-page "Energy Management Handbook." Pick up a free copy at any Mississippi Power Company office.

GCRL gets project extension for Fisheries Resources Assessment

A six month extension of the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory of Ocean Springs, Miss., has been granted to the project entitled Fisheries Resources Assessment and Monitoring. The project was authorized and funded under one segment of public law 89-309, which provides federal assistance in the form of research grants to states for fisheries research and development.

Data from the project are currently being used by the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission in the management of the shrimp fishery.

The federal portion of the funds is administered by the National Marine Fisheries Service, NOAA, Dept. of Commerce, while the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission receives and administers the federal and state funds involved. The federal funds authorized under the extension are $33,000 and state funds, $11,000.

J.Y. Christmas, senior fisheries biologist and principal investigator on the project, said the additional three months will enable them to extend field operations through September this year. This will complete gathering three years' data which is considered adequate for determining trends in the biota.

The remaining months will allow personnel time for the proper analysis of data and the preparation of reports and manuscripts for publication.

Biologists have discovered that the social status of a wolf can be determined by the way it carries its tail. The pack leader carries his tail high in the air, while a subordinate wolf will carry its tail low or even between its legs.

Heat is a form of energy that results from the movement of tiny particles, called molecules, in any substance. The faster the molecules move, the more heat there is.

Little Theatre production opens June 16

"1776" reenacts founding of nation

Special to the Echo
The Bay St. Louis Little Theatre production of "1776," under the direction of Mrs. Olive McKenna, will be staged June 16-19 at the playhouse on Boardman Ave. Curtain time is 8:15 p.m.

A musical reenactment of the founding of the nation, "1776" was written by Peter Stone based on an idea from Sherman Edwards, who wrote the music and lyrics.

The musical depicts the events of the first Continental Congress leading to the climax of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Members of the cast include: Jay Lagasse, Bunk Gardner, Jay Decker, Ronald Hall, Loren Hoover, Keith Ladner, Robert Taylor, David Landon, Lana Noonan, Tammy Caruthers, Ted and Jim Holmes, Anthony Sones, Raymond Koch, Cliff Savori, Skip Wusnack, John Scaffide, Sr., John Adams, Donald Mauffray, Howard Parker, Matt Hunter, Ted Stechmann, Charles Lyle, Leon Dabkowski, John Duchkar, Bill Fields and Hunter France.

Producer is Mrs. Alice Holmes with John Holmes as technical director. Betty Stechmann and Prima Wusnack are in charge of stage design and decoration and Anne Bennett Ladner and Diana Sones are in charge of make-up and hair styles.

Tickets for the performance are on sale at $2.50 each.

Dairy industry changes reflect nation's progress

Marketing dairy foods for today's consumer is a tremendous challenge. That vast array of milk and dairy products in your grocery store didn't "just happen." They are the result of a lot of hard work in planning, producing and marketing nature's most nearly perfect food.

Through years of imagination and progress we've come from a time of the milk skimmer, the home butter churn, the cheese press and the milk bucket to modern day facilities that provide a world of dairy foods to suit consumers of all ages.

Some 200 years ago, who would have predicted the variety of milk and dairy foods we've grown to take for granted where we shop? There's fresh, wholesome milk available whenever and however you want it. Take your pick of over 400 varieties of cheese by the chunk, in slices, or grated and ready to use. Ice Cream is available in flavors varied enough to suit almost any taste. Fresh, flavorful butter is just as near as the dairy counter in your favorite store. It's marketed in measured quantities always ready for quick convenient use.

In this Bicentennial year we reflect upon the history of our nation - its accomplishments, its shortcomings as we chart our course for another 200 years. Since June is designated as dairy month, perhaps it's appropriate to note some of the significant changes within the dairy industry.

The history of dairying in America is older than the U.S. as a nation. The first dairy cows came to Jamestown in 1611 and helped bring an end to starvation. The pioneers, moving westward, had a cow for the family's "food factory" on the move.

Today, the dairy industry is as modern and highly technical as any other American industry - a far cry from the cow following the covered wagon westward.

Great changes, too, have taken place in processing and distributing the product itself. The milk in today's dairy case is pasteurized, homogenized and fortified and sealed in sanitary containers. You have a choice of skim milk, several percentages of butterfat, half and half, cream, chocolate milk or buttermilk. In general, today's milk is improved beyond the fondest dreams of the earliest American dairy farmers.

But consumers don't just buy something because it's a great product. There are many factors that influence consumers' decisions to buy.

Research, public relations, brand advertising and merchandizing programs all play a very major role in encouraging consumers to make favorable buying decisions. We have seen steady improvement in the quality of dairy products on the market. New dairy products have developed and packaging has changed considerably.

Dairy foods like other products, face tremendous competition from similar types of products and from the whole range of goods competing for the consumer's dollars. The dairy industry has come a long way in supplying the kinds of products consumers want and are willing to buy with those hard earned dollars.

Some 29.5 million living veterans represent about 14 percent of the nation's population, the Veterans Administration reported.

Social Security checks to show living cost hike

A cost-of-living increase in monthly social security benefits will be included in checks delivered in July, according to Charles E. Wofford, social security district manager, Gulfport.

The increase will amount to 6.4 percent for most people getting social security payments. The cost-of-living provision was added to the social security law in 1972.

"People getting social security checks don't have to do anything to get the higher payments," Wofford said. "The increase will be added automatically."

The increase is based on the rise in consumer prices from the first 3 months of 1975 to the first 3 months of 1976.

With the cost-of-living increase, average social security retirement payments to retired workers will go from $210 to $224 a month. Average social security disability payments to disabled workers will go from $228 to $242 a month. Average social security survivors payments to widowed mothers or fathers with two children in their care will go from $479 to $510 a month.

Social security pays monthly benefits to over 32 million people. The payments are funded by social security contributions from employees, employers, and self-employed people.

Employees and employers contribute 5.85 percent each of the first $15,300 of yearly earnings from jobs covered by social security. Self-employed people contribute 7.9 percent. "Those figures remain unchanged," Wofford said.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

Luncheon notes Penrose retirement

Monday afternoon, June 7, the South Central Bell employees, who began their service in 1939, celebrated 37 years of service at the Wheel Inn Restaurant in Bay St. Louis. The luncheon was a working as a the time of his retirement. Among family and friends attending the retirement banquet were Mrs. Helen Penrose, the couple's daughter, Mrs. Nanette Stroh; Mr. and Mrs. Norvin Penrose Jr., and the Reverend Shoemaker of Christ Episcopal.

Fellow employees attending were E. V. Aimes, Mrs. Myrtle Flynn, T. G. Hayes and J. R. Murphy. F. A. O'Steen, division plant manager for South Central Bell presented Mrs. Penrose with a diamond brooch previously selected by her husband. Leo Pullen, president of Gulf Coast Council Telephone Pioneers of America, presented the retiree with a life membership in the Gulf Sands Club.

Telephone Pioneers of America is the world's largest volunteer service organization and its membership consists of active and retired telephone employees with 20 or more years of service in the communications business.

J. L. Pigford, district plant manager, presented Penrose with a directory of the South Central Bell organization, and central office foreman Richard Salinger presented a gift certificate. C. E. Ivy, plant manager, was master of ceremonies for the occasion.

Penrose has served as an alderman in his present home town of Waveland and is a graduate of St. Stanislaus High School. He and his wife, the former Helen Chapman, reside at 380 Jeff Davis Ave. in Waveland.

Don't overreact to your child's profanity

By NORINE BARNES

Those obscene or profane four-letter words have a magical quality to most young children. Why? Because they get some kind of reaction from parents, teachers and other adults.

These reactions range from alarm, anger, worry, amusement, disgust, dismay and embarrassment to a feeling of personal insult. A child soon learns that these words have the power to produce strong emotional reaction in adults. Children find it fascinating to do this because it gives them a feeling of power and importance. Usually it takes a great deal of time and trouble to get an adult to notice you but just say a few four-letter words and every head turns.

Ask the VA

Q — Does the VA offer special insurance for veterans with service-connected disabilities?

A — Service-Disabled Veterans Insurance is available to veterans eligible for service-connected disability compensation of 10 percent or more who do not have non-service-connected disabilities which render them uninsurable. Application must be made within one year from the date the VA notifies the veteran that his disability has been rated as service connected.

Q — A 65-year-old veteran with a 10 percent service-connected disability receives Social Security as his only other source of income. Does he qualify for VA pension?

A — He may qualify for a disability pension as the greater benefit, in lieu of his service-connected compensation. He should contact his nearest VA office.

Q — Can veterans, in-service students, and eligible dependents receive VA educational benefits while attending schools in other countries?

A — Yes, where the course or program at the school is approved for training by the VA. Contact the nearest VA office for complete information.

Children are not yet socially adjusted and are still in the process of learning. Obscene words, at first, are just like other words they are learning. Often a child doesn't know their meaning, but finds out the emotional power these words have. Sometimes, he knows their meaning, but doesn't know yet that there is a better way to express his thoughts.

These approaches may stop the words, but what about the child's thoughts and emotions? Perhaps the best approach is not to react at all. In this way, the child will not experience the "emotion pow" of these words. A casual reaction, such as: "We don't use this word in our family; we say —," could be very constructive for the child. It would provide him with guidelines for correct social behavior.

He might repeat the four-letter words for a while. However, if parents and friends remain unemotional and casual about it, this behavior will cease.

Ocean Springs when they were questioned by local police. Carr said he told the policemen that the two were traveling together and that the child was his son.

Ladner said the deaths of those found in Hancock County occurred by strangulation. However, he said a Florida pathologist ruled at the coroner's inquest that the girl was buried alive and also attributed her death to suffocation. The pathologist, according to Ladner, said abrasions on the girl's back brought him to the conclusion that she had tried to free herself from the grave.

Both bodies, Ladner said, were twisted into the fetal position. He said Carr used an undershirt for the boy and a rope for the girl, which bound their hands and ankles, then came behind the knees and knotted behind the neck.

He said the boy was buried fully clothed but the girl was clad only in a blue tee-shirt.

Ladner said both graves were only about four feet deep and two and a half feet wide.

"They (the bodies) were so compact you could have put them in a pillow case," he said. He added that the girl was five feet, six inches tall and weighed 125 pounds.

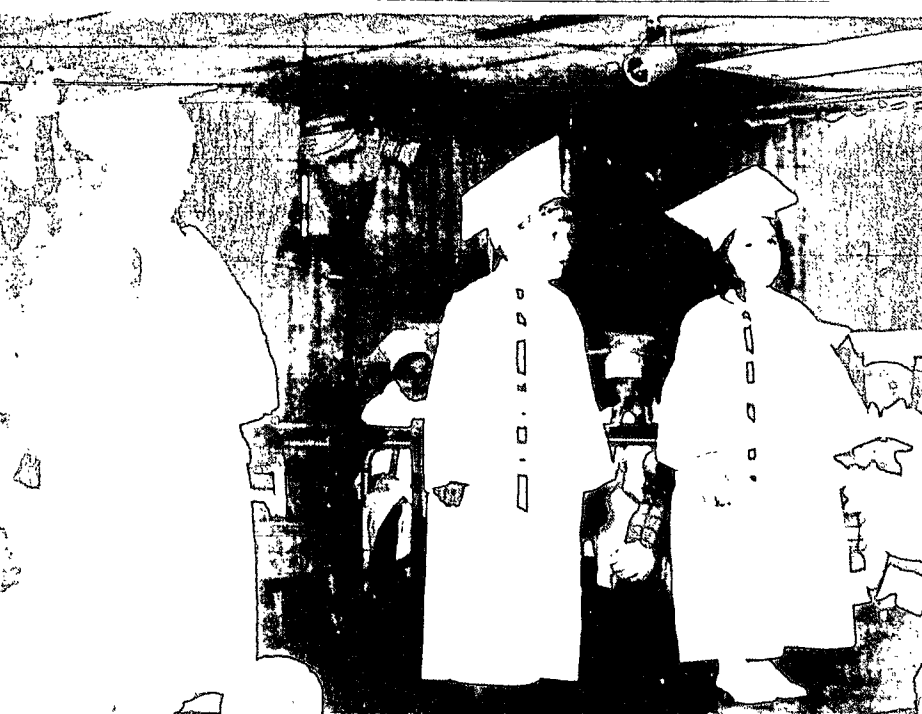

"Carr told us that it took about three hours to fill the graves because he camouflaged them by hand," Ladner said.

Ladner said Florida officials will accompany Carr to Louisiana and Connecticut later this week where the bodies of two more youths are allegedly buried.

He said Carr will be tried for all the crimes in Dade County due to a law passed there recently which states that anyone committing a crime in Florida and concluding it in another state must appear before a Florida grand jury, and if indicted, subsequently stand trial there.

Most romantic of all house plants are ferns. Their feathery beauty in big jardinières are placed at interesting heights to fill this room with liveliness and balance.

Plant popularity growing

Try "green thumb" decorating

Plants have gained tremendous popularity as decorative elements in apartments, homes and offices. Their use depends on personal taste, budget and an individual's "green thumb" abilities.

There are some excellent books available at the library, and most florists will be happy to advise you once you discuss with them the light available in your home for good growth.

Proper light for house plants can be a tricky matter. Many foliage plants cannot tolerate direct sunlight; their leaves will burn if they get too much. On the other hand, flowering plants, cacti and succulents will not bloom without enough direct sunlight.

If you live in a city apartment where natural light is not plentiful, both fluorescent and special lights are often adequate. Be sure to check first with your local greenhouse.

Before buying, always check the five major requirements for a plant - light, water, soil composition, temperature and humidity. Also find out if the plant is tempered or conditioned to a life indoors. If a plant has been living out of doors, the shock of change without a period in a greenhouse will be very discouraging as leaves will yellow and fall, and you'll have to nurse it through a period of adjustment.

If you are just getting into the botanical thing, you may wonder how to decorate

"tastefully" with plants. Although there are no rules as such, you want your plants to look like they "belong" in your particular decor.

When taking the advice from a friend and florist, and your own inclinations, plants can be mixed or matched...but, if your furnishings are predominantly of the following styles, interior designers at Armstrong Cork Co. have these suggestions.

For exotic settings, Paradise Palms (Howea forsteriana) are easy to grow. Time was when these palms were status symbols and greatly sought after, perhaps because of their rarity and the fact that such plants could not be shipped from far-off ports successfully. Today, thanks to modern transportation and improved chemical technology, many varieties of tropical flora are widely available. Palms require relatively little light; they're reasonable; and they grow to dramatic heights that vary from two and one half to six feet.

Boston Ferns (nephrolepis cordifolia) are beautifully suited to elegant or traditional interiors. Big jardinières of feathery ferns add romantic touches of greenery; they "sentimentalize" a room. Ferns love high humidity and cool temperatures but should be kept away from drafts and air conditioners which take moisture out of the air. Curtains or blinds are a good idea if a fern is in front of a window. Four or five feet back from a sunlit window would be best placement.

If you're an Early American buff, Grape Ivy (Cissus rhombifolia) is perfect. It's very adaptable and can be used in the very popular hanging baskets, in centerpieces, drysinks, etc. Easy to grow, Grape Ivy is medium light requiring, relatively inexpensive, and varies from two inches to three feet in size.

Spanish or Mediterranean decors look more authentic with the luxuriant Corn plant (Dracaena) around. Its cost is determined by the variety and the quality, and the size can vary from 10 inches to 15 feet! Dracaena is easy to grow because it requires low to medium light, and its water needs are moderate.

One of the newer decorating trends is a revival of Art Deco, and one of the plants that looks appropriate with Deco is Diffenbachia maculata - or "Mother-in-law's Tongue." No green thumb is required for this conversation item...it's that hard to kill! Size can vary from four inches to four feet, and it can be kept alive for years with low light and only an occasional watering.

Modernists like the Weeping Laurel (Ficus benjamina). It, too, is relatively inexpensive, needs moderate water and average light, and its size varies from one foot table-plant size to the 10 foot floor-plant variety.

Philodendrons (Araceae) are undoubtedly the most versatile of house plants and seem to suit eclectic backgrounds because of their own flexibility. Except for the very exotic varieties, they are fairly inexpensive with minimal light and water needs.

Plants have a lot in common with people; they can be killed with too much food, drink, and warmth. (Incidentally, energy conservation will not affect growth of most house plants which like temperatures around 68 degrees F. Most plants can prosper in temperatures as low as 55 degrees F.)

An interesting sidelight to the popularity of house plants is the "baby-sitting" occupation that has emerged for talented "plant people" of all ages. Plant store personnel offering this service frequently guarantee that your plants not only will be in the same good condition as you left them before a trip, but in better condition when you return since they've been under the professional's care. And - how about the interesting theories that music and "sweet talk" favorably affect plant growth?

There is no doubt that plants are perhaps the cheapest centerpieces you can use...far less expensive than many decorative art objects, candles, or fresh flowers...always "on hand" and "in season."

Thelma Yockey installed Pass library friends president

Mrs. Thelma Yockey was installed president for 1976-78 on Monday at ceremonies in the home of outgoing president Mrs. Jackson Balch.

Others installed included Mrs. Pat Curran, vice president; Mrs. Rosamond Wallace, secretary; Mrs.

Marion Yarborough, treasurer. Alister Cook's novel, America, will be reviewed by Mrs. Sheelah Maginnis, immediately following the group's weekly coffee hour, 10 a.m., Friday at the library. The weekly coffee is open to the public with a "special invitation" extended to newcomers.

Registrations are still being made to the Children's Summer Program now underway. Carrying the theme, America, Then and Now, next major item here is the screening of a movie, 10 a.m., July 10 at City Hall. This full length presentation is open to all children without charge.

Publicity Chairman for the group is Mrs. Wilma Erichsen at 452-7109.

Cotton call

Cotton was the topic of conservation as Congressman Trent Lott welcomed 1976 Maid of Cotton Victoria Laughlin to Capitol Hill during her Spring Washington visit. The capitol also included visits with Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz and President Gerald Ford. Miss Laughlin is a native of Newport Beach, Calif. and a senior at the University of Southern California.

Miss Bielenberg retires as St. Paul's principal

Miss Adele Bielenberg will conclude 43 years teaching in the public and parochial school systems when she retires June 11 from her post as principal at St. Paul's School, Pass Christian.

Miss Bielenberg became principal at St. Paul's in 1970 after the nuns withdrew the previous spring. St. Paul's then became the first all lay Catholic elementary school in the state.

During her tenure there, St. Paul's attained an "A" rating. Many honors have come to Miss Bielenberg during her 41 years of teaching at Pass Christian, one year at Pineville, and one year at Hurley.

In 1967, she was made a life member of the state PTA and was presented a certificate for her accomplishments.

Three years later, she received a plaque from the Pass Christian High School Alumni Association for her "dedicated services to the children of the Pass Christian municipal separate school district" and May 3 of this year, VFW Post 5931 honored her by planting a tree in her honor at War Memorial Park. A member of Delta Kappa Gamma and Alpha Delta Kappa, honorary teacher organizations, Miss Bielenberg was appointed a member of the Bicentennial Commission by the Mayor of Pass Christian, and through her leadership, St. Paul's was designated a Bicentennial School of the United States. Her most recent honor came May 23 when she was presented a plaque by the St. Paul's Parish Organization and a gold watch by the PTO for her services.

After graduating from Gulf Park College in 1926, Miss Bielenberg attended summer sessions at Tulane University, taught at Pineville and Hurley, then returned to college graduating with a B.S. degree in 1929 from the University of Southern Mississippi. She then returned to teaching in Pass Christian, her hometown.

In order to keep up with modern reading trends, Miss Bielenberg attended the USM reading clinic for several summers and completed her graduate work there in 1960. She holds a Class AA certificate in elementary education and supervision.

After years of service to the citizens of Pass Christian, Miss Bielenberg expects to find time for her hobbies of gardening, photography, and collecting costume jewelry and cut glass.

Summer fair time

Father Canisius Hayes, left, wields hammer this week during preparations of sign erection advertising St. Ann's Parish fair, Saturday and Sunday. Madonna Boos, left, seated, and Vivian Moffett were busy fixing booths this week, while Claude Myers, here holding up end of sign, was in charge of carpentry and steelwork.

St. Ann Church Fair follows seafood supper

St. Ann's annual church fair to be held Saturday and Sunday, June 12 and 13 on the church grounds will be preceded by a seafood supper, Friday, June 11, starting at 6 p.m. in Parish Hall, Lower Bay Road; Clermont Harbor. Donation will be $2 per plate and take out orders will be available. Fair activities will begin after the 5 p.m. Mass Saturday and at 2 p.m. Sunday. In addition to the usual booths, there will be games and entertainment for adults and children.

Highlight of the fair will be the awarding Sunday night of a Bicentennial trip for two to Washington, D.C. and Philadelphia, Penn., or $500 cash.

MRS. RUDY TILLMAN

Tillman-Coleman

Miss Deborah Gay Rose Coleman and Rudolph (Rudy) Tillman were united in marriage during an afternoon ceremony May 29 at First Assembly of God Church, Waveland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Coleman Sr., Bay St. Louis, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Bobette Tillman Hendrix, Bay St. Louis.

Pastor P.J. Paramore performed the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with an arrangement of yellow daisies and white gladioli.

The bride wore a dotted Swiss gown, featuring a square-necked bodice appliqued with lace and ribbon. The full length long sleeves were also bonded with the lace and ribbon. A dust ruffle formed the hem of the gown.

Her elbow length veil of illusion fell from a caplet bordered in daisy appliques. She carried a bouquet of yellow and white daisies and baby's breath with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Evelyn Griffith Cox, Bay St. Louis, was matron of honor. She wore a formal length off-white gown with blue appliques and carried a bouquet of daisies and baby's breath with yellow satin streamers.

A reception followed in the fellowship hall of the church. The refreshment table, covered with a white lace cloth, featured a three tiered wedding cake.

For traveling to Pascagoula, the bride wore a sky blue skirt and jacket ensemble with a floral print blouse. A corsage of yellow daisies and miniature white carnations complemented her attire.

The couple is at home in Bay St. Louis where the groom is employed by Global Associates at NSTL.

MR. AND MRS. DAVID JOHNSON

Johnson-Geroux

Miss Karen Lynne Geroux, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A.W. Geroux, Bay St. Louis, and David Lee Johnson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lee Johnson Sr., Waveland, were united in marriage during an afternoon ceremony May 16 at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Rev. Nathan Barber and Father William Kelly performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace with a detachable cathedral length train. Her full length mantilla of silk illusion was bordered with Chantilly lace.

She carried a bouquet of pink and white miniature roses, baby's breath, and English ivy.

Miss Kathi Geroux, sister of the bride, New Orleans, La., was maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Charlene Stigler and Sharon Seals both of Bay St. Louis; Jan Miller, Picayune; and Joanne Cook, Houston, Tex.

The maid of honor wore a blue crepe A-line gown with a V-neck and fly-away sleeves. The bridesmaids were identically attired in blue crepe train dresses styled along the lines of the maid of honor's gown.

Mike Gibbons, Bay St. Louis, was best man. Groomsman were Charlie Caldwell and Kerry Geroux, brother of the bride, both of Bay St. Louis and Chris and Kim Johnson, brothers of the groom, both of Waveland.

Ushers were Kerry Geroux, brother of the bride, of Bay St. Louis and John McPhail, Waveland.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Geroux wore an A-line dress of green taffeta with an overlay of green chiffon. A corsage of yellow roses complemented her costume. The mother of the groom wore a champagne colored A-line dress with an orchid corsage.

A reception was held at the Dock of the Bay following the ceremony. Receiving guests were the couple's parents and Mr. and Mrs. T.C. Dunlevy, grandparents of the groom. For traveling to Santa Rosa Island, Fla., the bride wore a melon-colored outfit.

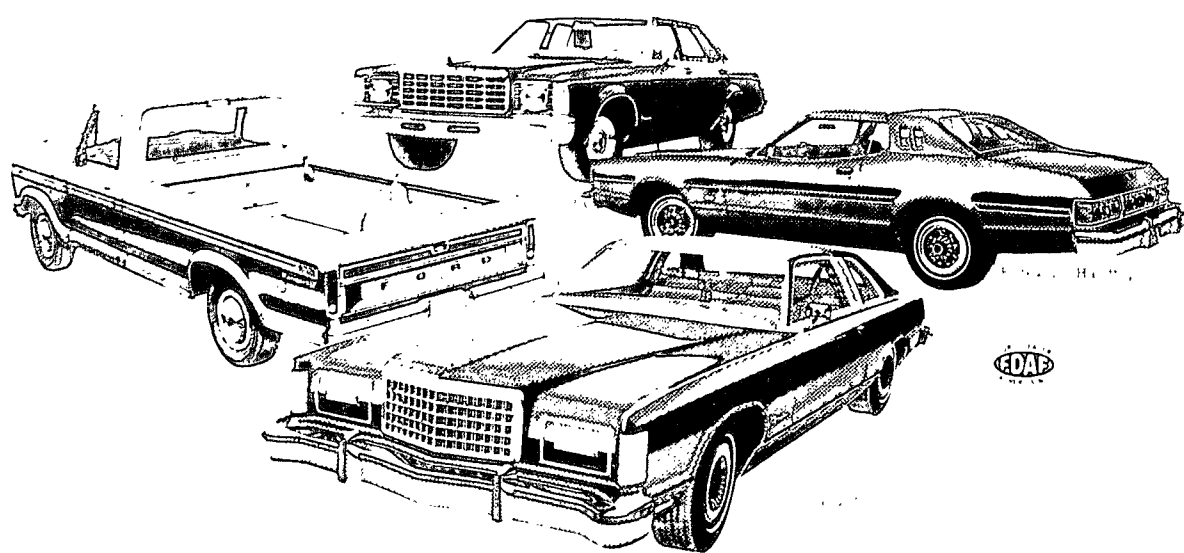

Out-of-town guests were Miss Kathy Milton, Bogaloussa, La.; Miss Sandy Sheffield, Hattiesburg; Miss Kathy McNatt, Picayune; Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Dunlevy and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Maxwell and family all of Atlanta, Ga.; and Ray Condon and sons and Mrs. Byrne Cambiel, all of New Orleans.

USM-Gulf Park schedules workshop

LONG BEACH - They'll roll up their sleeves, try out new techniques, and learn to do by doing at the Art Education Workshop to be held June 22-24 at the University of Southern Mississippi.

"Participants will spend 15 hours learning about modern creative art education and some of its materials and tools," said Dr. William Poirier, chairman of the art education department.

Techniques will include some of the uses of crayons, water colors, poster paints, finger paints, colored chalks and modeling clay. Participants also will work with paper, paste and other materials to gain three-dimensional effects.

Miss Carol Durham of Northeast Louisiana University will conduct a session provided by Binney and Smith Inc., manufacturers of Crayola crayons and other art supplies.

Fees are $56 for undergraduate credit and $44 for non-credit participants. For additional information, telephone Henry D'Aquila, Conferences and Workshops Coordinator, USM-GP, telephone 864-2155.

VIRGINIA ANN HOFFMAN

Hoffman-Rehm

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Hoffman Sr. announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Virginia Ann, to Richard A. Rehm, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Rehm, all of New Orleans, La.

The wedding will take place August 7 at St. Edward the Confessor Church.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of L.S. Elliott of Bay St. Louis.

Safe Water Act to be discussed at public meeting

Dr. Louis H. Jobe Jr., Director of the Hancock Health Department announced there will be a meeting to discuss the Safe Drinking Water Act on Thursday, June 17 at 1:30 p.m.

The meeting will be held on the second floor of the Hancock County Court House in the Board of Supervisors meeting room.

All public water systems which have resident populations with 15 or more connections, or which serve 25 individuals for 60 days or more out of the year must comply with the Safe Drinking Water Act. Some examples of public water supplies are:

subdivisions, trailer parks, schools, industries, camping areas, restaurants, day care centers, Head Start centers, hotels and motels. However, they must be served by their own water supply.

UNIVERSITY - Opening production of the 1976 Summer Showcase theatrical season at Ole Miss will be the Broadway musical "Promises, Promises," written by three of the best known names in contemporary theater, Neil Simon, Barbra Streisand and Hal David. The production will be performed June 22-26 in Meek Auditorium.

MRS. C.R. BAXTER

Baxter-Jordan

Miss Virginia Lea Jordan, Birmingham, Ala., and Clarence Rice, Baxter, Tuscaloosa, Ala., were united in marriage during a June 5 afternoon ceremony at The Episcopal Church of the Advent, Birmingham.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. William Craig Browne, Birmingham and Ernest Lino Jordan Jr., San Mateo, Calif. and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Francis Baxter, Bay St. Louis.

Rev. C. Brinkley Morton performed the ceremony before an altar decorated with four urns filled with masses of white roses and baby's breath. Pre-nuptial selections were performed by Miss Carolyn Brown, harpist and Mrs. Idabel Gay, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of candlelight silk organza fashioned on princess lines with a traditional wedding band neckline. The neckline, bodice and Juliet sleeves were embellished in re-embroidered Alencon lace with seed pearls. The aisle length gown finished with a deep ruffle.

Soft gathers at the back of the waist formed the cathedral train.

A cap of lace and pearls held a mantilla style veil with the sweeping illusion train edged in a deep border of the matching Alencon lace.

For her bouquet, the bride carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis, white roses, baby's breath, and miniature Tropicana roses.

Miss Joann Longshore of Birmingham was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Andrea White and Miss Tracy Wood both of Birmingham; Miss Patty Sherrill, Decatur, Ala.; Miss Gail Heggeman, Mobile, Ala.; Miss Cheryl McCaleb, Huntsville, Ala.; Miss Peggy Schimpf, Signal Mountain, Tenn.; and Miss Pam Harned, Winter Park, Fla. Junior bridesmaid was Miss Barclay

Browne, Birmingham, niece of the bride.

The attendants were identically attired in aisle length gowns of soft coral silk organza fashioned on Empire lines. The scooped neckline was edged with a three layered flounce and the full gathered skirt swept to the floor with a deep ruffle.

They carried a fall of green cymbidium orchids and miniature ivy.

Lionel Francis Baxter Jr., New Orleans, La., brother of the groom, was best man. Groomsman were Frank Batton Jordan and Ernest Lino Jordan III, brothers of the bride, and Michael H. Strong, all of Birmingham; George Mattingley, Atlanta, Ga.; Robert Mackey, New Orleans; George Wilder, Tuscaloosa, Ala.; Ron Daniel, Corpus Christi, Tex.; and Dr. John Wakeman, San Antonio, Tex.

For her daughter's wedding, the mother of the bride wore a chignon gown of contrasting sun glow tones designed on Empire lines with a V-neck and front panel of lighter toned chiffon. The dress was covered with a flowing waist length cape finished with a soft bow at the neckline.

Mrs. Baxter wore a deep emerald chignon gown designed in pencil lines of knife pleats with the tunic look. The neckline and sleeves were banded in matching satin ribbon.

A reception was held in Clingman's Commons and the church gardens following the ceremony. A champagne party was given for the couple by Dr. and Mrs. William Craig Browne and Ernest Lino Jordan following the reception at the church.

The couple will be home in Tuscaloosa.

WORCESTERSHIRE PUTS M-M-M INTO BARBECUED MEATS

"M-M-M! Whatever did you do to this meat? It's marvelous!" Chances are they won't believe you when you tell them "Just a little tomato, orange juice and Lea & Perrins sauce!" Of course, the real secret is that the Worcestershire is a seasoning shell in itself.

As a matter of fact, there are many barbecue chefs who have discovered that Worcestershire sauce, just as it comes from the bottle, is a perfect combination of anchovies, tomatoes, onions, spices, garlic and a long list of other savory ingredients. Its blended aroma makes it unnecessary to carry a big trayful of different seasonings to the cookout.

SKEWERED STEAK AND VEGETABLES

- |  |   |
|--|---|
| 1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce                             | 1 teaspoon salt                             |
| 1 can (6 oz.) frozen concentrated orange juice, thawed | 1 1/2 pound beef flank steak                |
| 1/4 cup original Worcestershire sauce                  | 1 box cherry tomatoes                       |
| 2 tablespoons salad oil                                | 2 medium zucchini, cut into 1/2-inch slices |
|  | 1/2 pound fresh mushrooms, halved           |

Combine tomato sauce, orange juice, Worcestershire sauce, oil and salt. Remove 1 cup, set aside. Refrigerate remaining 1 cup in a tightly covered container for later use as a barbecue sauce. Thinly slice flank steak on the diagonal. Place in a snug-fitting bowl. Pour reserved 1 cup sauce over meat, stirring to coat all pieces of meat. Cover and refrigerate overnight. On skewers thread a slice of meat alternately around a cherry tomato, slice of zucchini and a mushroom half. Repeat using all of meat and vegetables. Brush any sauce remaining in bowl over vegetables. Grill over hot coals or broil under a preheated hot broiler until cooked as desired, about 3 minutes on each side, brushing with any remaining marinade. Yield: 4 to 6 portions (2 cups barbecue sauce).

Bay students named to USM president's list

HATTIESBURG - The President's List, top academic honor roll at the University of Southern Mississippi, has been released for the Spring quarter.

To make this list, a student must have a 4.0 scholastic average (all 'A's) on a minimum study load of 10 semester hours work.

Included on the list from Hancock County are: Elenor Marie Marquez, Bryan Ervin Acker, and Nancy Wolfe, all of Bay St. Louis, and Judith Lucille Dahn, Cheryl Ann Goetz, Herbert Stephen Jones, and Deborah Marie Longo, all of Waveland.

UNIVERSITY - An 1831 copy of "The Cadet," an early Mississippi newspaper not mentioned in authoritative sources, has been presented to the Ole Miss Law Center by former Circuit Judge Lunsford Casey of Laurel.

University archivist Dr. Edward M. Walters called the newspaper "a unique copy."

Judge Case, a veteran collector of Mississippiana, also gave the Law Center seven early volumes dealing with laws and history of the state and nation, secret debates and proceedings of the Constitutional Convention as published in 1839, 1868 impeachment proceedings against President Andrew Johnson, and various other books and manuscripts.

One prized gift is a Mississippi Bar Association Memorial to Congress in 1925 seeking extension of the circuit court system to the eight-year-old State of Mississippi.

"Homeplace" looks at Mississippi farmers

"Homeplace" a film on people of the United States will make their living by farming. The film is directed by James W. Moore and is part of the Ole Miss series.

The film is a production of the Ole Miss Extension Service, which is a part of the Mississippi State University. It is a 15-minute film that shows the life of farmers in Mississippi. The film is part of a series called "Homeplace" which is designed to show the life of people in different parts of the United States.

Marshall and Lafayette counties and will be broadcast at 9:30 p.m., Tuesday, June 15, and at 2:30 p.m., Sunday, June 20, on Mississippi ETV.

The program can be seen on Channel 19, Biloxi. Only about five percent of the people in the United States make their living by farming. According to the film, the percentage is dropping, and an agrarian America will soon be hard to see at all.

Included in "Homeplace" are segments on a ghost town, a craftsman whose craft is dying and a farmer who prefers to make his way with a team of mules.

The film was chosen by the United States Information Agency for its 1975 Young American Filmmakers program. It also was awarded a certificate of merit at the 18th Chicago International Film Festival and a 1975 Cine Eagle.

Recipients of veterans' benefits from the War of 1812 continued until 1946, the Veterans Administration reported.

There were about 4.7 million veterans in the United States when the Veterans Administration was established by President Hoover in 1930. Today there are almost 30 million living veterans.

The World War II GI Bill was signed into law June 22, 1944, with responsibility placed with the Veterans Administration.

VA outlines benefits available to state Vets

Some 89,799 veterans, dependents and survivors in Mississippi received $197,829,221 in Veterans Administration benefits during fiscal year 1975, according to Merlyn J. Cook, assistant center director, Jackson Regional Office.

"That's a lot of federal money," Cook said, "but we often find veterans, particularly older veterans, and eligible survivors of veterans, who do not realize they are eligible for benefits."

VA benefits include such diversified areas as home loan guarantees, education benefits, life insurance coverage, burial benefits, and monthly payments in the form of compensation or pension, he explained. Some 244,000 veterans in Mississippi are potentially eligible along with their dependents and survivors.

"Education payments made to 22,729 veterans and eligible dependents totaled $36,454,195," Cook said. "An additional $111,429,871 in compensation and pension payments were made to 67,070 Mississippi veterans and survivors this year."

Disability compensation is paid to veterans who were disabled by injury or disease incurred on active duty and to those who had a medical condition that was aggravated by active military service. Those monthly payments range from $35 for a 10-percent degree of disability to $1,028.00 for specific severe disabilities. Spouses and children of veterans who die of these service connected causes are eligible for death compensation payments.

Pension is paid to needy wartime veterans who are totally and permanently disabled for reasons not traceable to military service. Those who are 65 years of age or older are considered permanently and totally disabled for pension eligibility purposes, but still must meet income limits. Dependent survivors of these veterans may also receive pension assistance if their income does not exceed certain limits.

"Compensation and pension are often used interchangeably," Cook said. "However, they are vastly different. Compensation is paid - without regard to income - when disability or death resulted from military service. Pension is paid on the basis of need when the disability or death was not related to military service. Pension payments vary in amount with the recipient's income from other sources. As income from other sources, including Social Security, increases, the pension payment decreases.

Also considered in determining pension eligibility is the size of a veteran's estate and unusual medical expenses which are not reimbursed by insurance.

Education benefits are limited to veterans with more than 180 continuous days of honorable military service since 1955.

Complete information on all VA benefits is available from VA offices and from local veterans organizations.

Riemann's slips to two spot

Gulf National takes over Little League lead

Gulf National Bank surpassed Riemann's in the Little League standings this week, taking over the top spot, on the virtue of two wins this past week.

HERE, HERE! Hancock Bank catcher Brock Godwin tries to draw the attention of a teammate during action with Gulf National Bank Monday. Cards won 7-4.

Gulf National earlier dealt Riemann's their first and only loss of the season last week with a 9-4 rout.

On the strength of that win Gulf collected itself together again last Wednesday tolobber American Legion 11-1 in a game that was stopped at the end of five innings because of the 10 run rule.

Joe Gex got credit for the win. David McIver led Gulf with a triple and a single in four times at bat. GNB scored all 11 runs on only four hits. Robert Whavers scored the only run for American Legion, who collected five hits. Whavers had a triple and a single for two at bats.

Gulf had a five run fourth inning and squashed a sixth inning rally by Hancock Bank to hold onto a 7-4 win Monday night.

Starter Joe Gex was relieved by Neal Wilkerson in the fourth inning who got credit for the win. Mark Savori led the Gulf bench with a single and a double in three trips to the plate.

Hancock scored four runs on four hits with Ricky Ladner getting two of those hits.

American Legion squeezed out a 9-8 win over Our Shopping center after Leroy Reed drove in three runs in the fourth inning with his first homerun of the season. Reed was also the winning pitcher. Brother Frankie Reed also sparked at the plate, collecting two hits and scoring twice. Bruce Cabell also scored twice for Legion and had two hits. Donald Williams had a triple and a single for Legion.

Top hitters for Our Shopping Center were Walter Ross and John Kidd with two hits for three ABS.

Hancock Bank picked up its second win of the season last Wednesday with a 9-7 tilt over Our Shopping Center.

Hancock batters collected nine hits in the game with Dennis Rhodes accounting for two of those and two of Hancock's runs. Ricky Ladner pitched in relief for Gus Aimes and was credited with the win.

Leader at the plate for Our Shopping Center were Walter Ross and Kevin Garrett. Ross had a single and a double while Garrett supplied a pair of singles.

Legion maintains Ruth stranglehold

Special to the Echo
Kevin McCaleb's three-hit pitching and a scrappy defense enabled Dixie Realty to post a 6-3 victory over Coast Electric Tuesday in Babe Ruth play at Tiger field.

Doug Summers had two hits and two RBI's and Andrew Haas doubled to pace Dixie at the plate. Mike Richardson was the losing pitcher relieving Woody Necaice.

Necaice went two for three and Scott Cox singled to lead Coast Electric.

In the second game, American Legion defeated Rotary International 7-1 behind a strong showing by pitcher David Strong. Strong, aided by - two double plays, yielded a lone run in the sixth posting of his first victory of the season. Keith Favre, Jeff Wallace, Alton Benoit and Kelly Geroux all hit safely for Legion. Kerry Corr was charged with the loss, going the distance.

Corr, Steven Trelles, Mark Smith, Donald Ginn and Gene Tarzetti collected base hits for Rotary Club.

Water Safety Program available

By WILLIAM O. GOODWIN
"Be Careful!" How many times are young people cautioned by adults, particularly parents, to be careful? This urging becomes especially important when you consider the number of youngsters participating in recreational activities such as boating and other water sports in our area.

Recognizing the need for safety instruction, 4-H initiated the Boat and Water Safety Program. The program was prompted by the fact that about one-half of those who drown are under 18-years-old. The program is sponsored by the Mississippi Boat and Water Safety Commission and the 4-H Department of the Cooperative Extension Ser-

Both salt and fresh water fishing hasn't been too hot for the past week. Some speckled trout were caught over at Bayou Portage, but they were on the small size. Bass and perch were doing nothing on account of the incoming tide in the afternoons. Some day we are going to have falling tides afternoon and bass will come into their own. There are plenty bass but they are not biting. Spent all day Wednesday fishing at Salt Bayou. Wound up with one bass and one perch. A few soft crabs are being caught out front. The reason the tides are not right. Soft crabs are also caught on a falling tide.

For you people who fish for perch and bass with a perch pole, earthworms, crickets, and live minnows, now is the time to go. Fish at the head of canals and small bayous. That's where these fish spawn. You can fish from the bank or by boat. We think earthworms are the most preferable bait. Cut up shrimp are also effective.

Speaking about shrimp, they are now being caught. Fish market shops have plenty of bait shrimp, and also eating shrimp right now. What is better than a shrimp supper with boiled shrimp, a shrimp salad, or fried shrimp? You tell me.

If you don't know the Hancock Boxing Club is a good organization. Something for our boys to join. It is non-profit. Its organizer and President is Harvey Mitchell. Vice president, Donald Marquar. Sr. Treasurer, Leon Russo. Sr. Secretary, Cindy Schoonmaker. and Reporter, Merline Mitchell. Board: Joe Hill, Charles Faye, M. J. Poyadon, Bill Sims, and Jim McArthur. Anyone wanting to donate to the club, it will be appreciated. Let's help our young boys help themselves.

There are 280 species of North American frogs all belonging to a related family and all good bait. When fishing for fresh water fish, especially bass and sac-a-lait. The leopard frog rates high among them.

Was sorry to hear of the death of Ronald Maurigi. He was a fisherman and hunter, a lifelong resident of the area and one of our younger men.

Michael Romanoff died in Hattiesburg last week. He was the son of Mrs. Betty Romanoff. A good sport, and young man of this city. Sympathy is extended to his family.

Roger Baudry returned to New Orleans after a week spent with me. Spent the week going fishing with no avail. Better luck next time, Roger.

Met two young men, Daniel Callahan and Robert Schreiner who are with Orkin Pest Control of Gulfport. They both do fresh and salt water fishing, crabbing, etc., when not working. They were both Boy Scouts and said it is still a wonderful organization for our youth.

The Annual Parish Fair of Our Lady of the Gulf will be held this Bicentennial Year on the July Fourth weekend. Fishermen have a chance to win a 13' sportsman fiberglass Bass Boat and Trailer plus other fishing tackle. Attend the fair. You can help out a good cause.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoffman, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Warren J.

Breaux, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hoffman, Jr., Misses Virginia, Barbara and Deborah Hoffman, Rick Rehm and Mike Frick were my guests over the weekend. They fished, crabbed and played tennis. It was really a family gathering.

Looks like the rains will never quit. Not much to report on fishing. About the only fish being caught are croakers off the Municipal and American Legion piers. Even crabs are not giving. Reminds us of the old saying: Rain, rain go away, Little Johnny wants to play.

Remember White Perch, Crappie and Sac-a-lait are the same fish. They are caught deeper than most fish especially among tree tops and other sunken objects. Hit better on live bait but can also be caught on the fly rod when using a black gnat and spinner. They have a good food value.

Don't hear much about turtles being caught. Our waters hereabout are full of them. Three of them known for the best eating are the Diamond Back Terrapin, the Soft Shell Turtle and the Snapping Turtle. Turtle and spaghetti make a wonderful eating dish. Watch out for the snapping turtle they are vicious biters.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK—Clarence Beauden fets in a little fishing now and then, but his main hobby is raising a home garden. He takes pride in what he is doing, and can give you a lot of pointers when it comes to making a garden. He enjoys doing it. Still lives down in Waveland on McKinley St.

Anne Johnson adds doubles crown to slate

Anne Johnson, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Charles Johnson, teamed with Katherine Yelverton of Jackson, to win the doubles crown last month at the Delta Junior Championship tourney in Cleveland. Runners-up were T.C. Dean of Cleveland, and Melanie Olson of Jackson. Miss Johnson, the District 8 B-BB singles champion, advanced to the semifinals of the singles tilt, losing to Miss Dean, eventual tournament winner.

Coached by Brother Canisius Schell of St. Stanislaus, Anne last week posted wins over Kay Koster and Kathy Azlin in the Cypress Hill Invitational tournament in Greenville to reach the semifinals, where she was once again edged by Miss Dean.

Her next tournament is the for later this month in Long Plantation Pines scheduled Beach.

Riding club names Demoran outstanding

Emmett Demoran was named outstanding club member last Friday, when the Hancock County Riding Club staged their annual awards banquet at Scafield's Wheel Inn.

David Lee was elected president of the group in an election of officers prior to the awards ceremony.

Also voted to serve during the 1976-77 season were: Ronnie Guilbeau, vice president; Annette Russ, secretary; Nancy Russ, AQHA secretary and publicity; and Demoran, treasurer.

Special guest speaker for the evening was Gil Switzer, past president and present rules committee member, Mississippi Quarter Horse Association. Switzer directing most of his remarks to the younger set, spoke on the value of rider attitude in competitive events, and gave tips and horse training advice.

Beat Five supervisor, James Travirca, was presented a plaque in recognition of his untiring efforts on behalf of the club's youth section.

Sportsmanship awards, Pony Division, went to Billy Bellais; and the 12 and under and 13-18 plaques, same division, to Mike Lee and Chip Lee respectively.

Attended by more than 150 people, others receiving awards included: high point awards — personally engraved belt buckles, Becky Favre, Pony, Mike Lee, 12 and under; Kenny Demoran, 13-18; Mrs. Allina Strickland, ladies high point; Edwin Ladner, men's high point.

Presentations were also made to Janet Haas, youth special award for a non-riding member; outgoing president Ronnie Guilbeau and outgoing officers, David Lee, Pat Favre, Emmett Demoran, Betty Haas, and Nancy Russ.

Citizens Band Radio

Today there are 6,250,000 Citizens Band radios in the United States, but many people don't really know what they are and how they work.

Citizens Band is a two-way radio service licensed by the Federal Communications Commission and intended for short distance (not over 150 miles) for personal or business radio communications.

A Citizens Band radio lets you keep in touch while traveling.

Hobbyists throughout the country are discovering that getting a CB license is easier than obtaining a driver's license, and no technical knowledge is required.

Basically, CB consists of a two-way radio, a microphone or handset, and an antenna. The radio is a combination transmitter and receiver known as a transceiver. Transceivers can be installed in trucks, planes, boats, cars, etc., and are perfect for the hobbyist who wants to keep in touch with home base.

For two-car (or more) families, CB is great for keeping in touch between cars. And anyone with car trouble late at night, far from home and in rotten weather can get help without even getting out of their car.

Hobbyists can use CB to have a more active social life. They can keep in touch with friends and neighbors around town, plan and coordinate social events, parties, impromptu get-togethers. It's a real party line!

For people with radio as a hobby or for whom radio can enhance a hobby, Citizens Band is an idea on the right wavelength.

Scout camps open June 13

The New Orleans Area Council, Boy Scouts of America, will open their summer camps on Sunday, June 13 for six weeks. Scouts may go to Camp Salmen, located 2.3 miles northwest of Slidell, La., on U.S. Highway 190, or the Salmen Scout Reservation near Sellers, Ms., approximately 20 miles east of Picayune.

Outstanding features of Camp Salmen are its swimming pool and waterfront program, its large supply of equipment, and facilities for camping. A large well equipped dining hall, plus special meals cooked out by patrols each week, give a well balanced program to fit the needs of all scout troops. This camp is especially suited for a new troop's first camp experience.

The Salmen Scout Reservation has 1500 acres of rolling hills and beautiful pine trees. Here Scouts will do wilderness camping — sleeping in two-man tents, in a well spaced patrol area. Patrol boxes, cooking gear, dining flies and patrol tables will be provided. Each patrol will check out its food and cook it on a charcoal stove.

Wildlife is common. Outstanding features of this camp are its truly wilderness setting, many hiking trails and a beautiful 85-acre lake. This camp has facilities for 320 scouts in its well placed 10 campsites.

Special emphasis is placed on a well trained staff. Special attention is given to all boys working on outdoor merit badges.

Family night is each Sunday. Parents may come out for a visit and see some real scouting in action this summer.

On an average day, the Veterans Administration's health care system has under its care about seven percent of the nation's hospitalized patients.

Oak Downs

Gypsy Chick noses out competition

(Special to The Echo)
PEARL RIVER, LA. - In a bang-bang finish Sunday at Oak Downs, Gypsy Chick overhauled two front runners to take an exciting victory in the 220-yard 12th race.

Gypsy Chick, owned and trained by Clyde Moran of Hancock County and ridden by leading jockey Charlie Silkwood, covered the distance in 12.68 seconds.

Pop-A-Top was second at 12.69 and Teddy Bar Mac, the leader until the last few jumps, was clocked in 12.695. In the 440-yard 14th, Hank The King remained undefeated at Oak Downs but it took a foul claim for him to do so.

Elmo Harless' Sassafras, an up-and-coming competitor, finished first but was placed second for crowding Hank The King against the outside rail.

In another close race involving a Hancock County horse, Lesli Dedeaux' Bam Bars came from behind in the last few strides to beat Go Red down by two hundredths of a second.

Another Dedeaux horse, Mr. Benny captured the 350-yard 10th race with a locking of 18.93 against Go Fails Go (18.975).

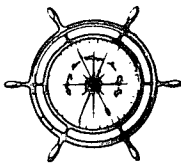

Sunday's results:
1) 400 yards, Super Dale, 21.12 (Unofficial), Kenneth Shows, owner and trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey. Big Jim, 21.43.

2) 250 yards, Jet Moment, 13.76 seconds, Gerald Averett, owner and trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey. Sweet Snappy Queen, 14.32.

3) 300 yards, Quardro Luck, 16.97, John Paul Amacker, owner; L. O. Necaise, trainer; Steve Roubion, jockey.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

Rain did not dampen the enthusiasm of the more than 300 campers who stayed at Buccaneer State Park last weekend. Local residents and their families present included: Jake Morreale, E.J. Maringo, and James Woodfin. The fun-filled weekend began with the weekly Story Hour on Friday afternoon. This is a weekly service co-sponsored by the library and the park. The Mississippi Game and Fish Commission showed two films on duck and dove hunting later in the evening.

There were two ping-pong tournaments Saturday and Sunday. Joe Morales from New Orleans was the winner in the 15 and over division. His son Jerry took the lead in the 15 and under.

Next weekend's activities focus around a pet care program on Saturday, including a pet show in the afternoon. Admission is free.

The pool is open Monday through Thursday for a fee of $2.50 per group. This includes day use of the pool, picnic tables, barbecue grills, tennis courts and rec hall facilities from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

UNIVERSITY - Ole Miss' newest journalism professor served three years as Moscow correspondent for The Baltimore Sun, which later assigned him to cover the U. S. Supreme Court and State Department.

But now Dean Mills, 33-year-old Iowan, has shifted into a teaching career.

"I had been a reporter for 18 years but I had first thought of teaching when I graduated from the University of Iowa. Instead, I decided to enter the profession," Mills said. "Then this chance came up to teach at Ole Miss and I love it. It's marvelous being involved with people old enough to have mature ideas and young enough to be enthusiastic."
